Oakes School Board votes to call special election, part 7

On Friday, January 12th, at the regular monthly board meeting of the Oakes Public School Board, members of the board voted unanimously to call a special election to approve the issuance of general obligation bonds for school building construction purposes. On March 14th, district voters will decide on a $14.84 million plan to address critical facility challenges at our 100-year-old school building. If approved, this plan will provide our school with:

- New HVAC systems
- Accessible bathrooms
- Updated kitchen infrastructure
- Repaired underground plumbing

Visit OurSchoolOurFuture.org to learn more about the plan to maintain key infrastructure throughout our school building.

As a district, we have been and will continue to be committed to ensuring transparency about decision making and information pertaining to the proposed project. During the next two months, we will be sharing a series of facility questions and answers (FAQs) focused and guided by stakeholder input. If you have any questions or concerns, please contact Anna Sell, Oakes Public School Superintendent, at anna.sell@k12.nd.us or 742-3234. Who is eligible to vote in this election?

Any U.S. Citizen who is a resident of North Dakota that is at least 18 years of age and has resided in the Oakes Public School District for at least 30 days preceding the election on Thursday, March 14, is eligible to vote. You do not need to be a property owner to vote! If you live in an apartment or rent your home, you can participate in this referendum election.

How do I vote in the referendum election?

There are two ways you can vote in this election. 1.) District residents can vote by absentee ballot from now through Wednesday, March 13. Absentee ballots must be postmarked by the postal office on or before March 13 or hand-delivered to the school district office by 5:00 p.m. on Wednesday, March 13. More information on how to vote by absentee ballot is available at OurSchoolOurFuture.org/vote. 2.) District residents can vote on Election Day on Thursday, March 14, from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. at the School District Office Central Conference Room. Residents with questions about voting are encouraged to contact Shannon Jepson, Oakes Public School Business Manager, at shannon.jepson@k12.nd.us or 701-742-3234.

Where can I find more information about the proposed plan for Oakes Public Schools?

District residents are encouraged to review the information and frequently asked questions on the dedicated referendum website - OurSchoolOurFuture.org. Residents with questions or who are interested in a tour of the building to learn more about the district's needs can contact Superintendent Anna Sell at anna.sell@k12.nd.us or 701-742-3234.

On Thursday, March 7th, we will offer two opportunities for residents to get their questions answered and see our facilities in person. Tours will be offered from 3:30-6:45, meeting in the library. We will also be sharing information in an in-person presentation in the concessions stand area at 4:00 and again at 6:00. Please join us and ensure that you are informed before you vote on this crucial referendum!

OPS Staff Spotlight... #WEAREOAKES

Submitted by Anna Sell, Superintendent

Name: Kayla Meierotto
How long have you been at OPS? 7 years.

What does your job entail?

I teach Physical Science (9th), Earth Science (8th), and Life Science (7th). I am also the Student Council Advisor.

What is the best part of your job at OPS?

The people I work with, and working with my Student Council kids on various projects in and out of school.

What piece of advice would you give our students?

In life, things aren't always easy. Don't be quick to concede, rather work hard to accomplish your goals. Find something to be passionate about and do what you love, because life is short.

What is something others don't know about you?

I have a background working in health care. Before earning my degree, I worked at the hospital in Oakes, but also at a level 1 trauma and burn center in Missouri when I lived there.

Who has been the biggest influencer in your life?

Before getting married, definitely my mom. She has shown me how to be selfless, hardworking, and determined to do just about anything I set my mind to. After getting married, definitely my husband. He supports me and pushes me to achieve any crazy idea(s) I come up with.

If you could pick any superpower, what would it be and why?

As a mom of 4 and a teacher, I would definitely want the ability to be in more than one place at a time.

What does it mean to you to be a Tornado?

Being a leader in my current role to make changes in our community and district. It also means supporting each other and being there for one another as a Tornado family.

Oakes man facing child pornography charges

By Steve Umess, NewsDakota ELLENDALE, N.D. (Valley News Live) - An Oakes man is facing 29 charges related to child pornography, according to court documents filed Friday.

Ryan Lee Marthaller is charged with 25 counts of promoting or directing an obscene sexual performance by a minor. He's also charged with four counts of possession of certain materials prohibited.

Court documents allege the incidents stem from the past four months, between November of 2023 and February of 2024. Documents say his victims include young girls and boys, some of them as young as three years old. His preliminary hearing is set for March 11. Marthaller is in the Barnes County jail on a $20,000 bond.

Court records show Marthaller was convicted on similar charges in 2019, for luring minors by computer.

The following story was published back in July of 2018: An Oakes man made his initial court appearance in Dickey County District Court on a felony count of luring a child by computer or electronic device. A criminal complaint alleges Ryan Lee Marthaller sent messages to a 13-year-old girl in late June asking for nude photos, then sent sexually explicit messages while again asking for nude photos. This story originally posted back in 2018.

Letter to the Editor

The views and opinions expressed in the "Letter to the Editor" column do not necessarily reflect the views and opinions of the staff and management of the Oakes Times.

Dear Editor:

With the referendum on March 14 approaching quickly, I feel that it is important to share some information on our aging facilities. Oakes Public School is made up of two buildings on two city blocks, located in the heart of Oakes. On the west half of this area sits the 63 year old elementary building with the 100 year old High School sitting to the East. Improvements made in the last three to five years include: a new roof on the high school, a new roof on the center portion of the elementary, and a main sewer line repaired in both the high school and the elementary.

Plumbing and sewer work is very costly to repair, as most of the infrastructure is located underground throughout the building and not easily accessed. About two years ago the plumbing in the north half of the high school was replaced, and it stands to reason that the south half will probably need to be completed sometime in the near future. Recently, the main line leading west out of the women's restroom in the gym lobby was determined to have broken, when we put a camera down to inspect it, the only solution to remedy the issues is to dig it up and fix it. In the west elementary wing, signs of decay in the main sewer line have appeared and will need to be attended to very soon.

When I started here, roughly

12 years ago, my Superintendent at the time, Art Conklin, had stated that it was important to have some money saved up for a chiller in the high school, as it was only a matter of time until it went down. He knew it would be expensive to replace even back then. That time came the first week of June last year right after graduation, the system failed to the point that it was beyond repair.

This building has always been frustrating for students, staff, and myself, because there is no sure way to control the temperature variance, especially on the second and third floors. Currently, we are running a two-pipe system in the high school which only allows you to either heat or cool at any given time. So, as the day goes on, and more students and sunlight enters, the room continues to get warmer and warmer, with no way to cool that room down while we are in heating mode. Once there is no chance of the cooling tower freezing, and we are comfortable that we will no longer need heating, we can switch the entire system over to cooling. There are always transition periods where some rooms will need to be warmer or cooler and because of the current system we have, we are unable to regulate temperatures in most of the rooms.

As an example, one particular classroom on the south side started out at 64° this morning and as of 12:20 p.m. this afternoon it is up to 75°, while the thermostat is still set at 66°. You might suggest to just open the window, which is what we do, however, to safely open the windows in their current state, we have cut 12-inch lengths of 2 x 4s for each aged and heavy window in the high school to brace them open so they don't fall down.

In the kitchen, the largest area of concern would probably be the coolers and freezers, as they have been there since the building was constructed. They are built in, under sized, and difficult to repair when they do break.

Lastly, I believe it is important to keep our facilities well-maintained and kept up as our school is a large part of our community. As you can see, we have made updates in many areas over the years, but there are some very important items that need to be taken care of but can't be done within the limited annual budget.

With that being said, I would encourage every eligible district resident to get out on Thursday, March 14 and cast your vote on this very important referendum.

Thank you!

Cooper's Corner by Martha MacLeod

Old Bone

Cooper turned ten months old on March 6. He has more personality now than when he was a teething puppy. He's good at entertaining himself. It's hilarious for two elderly sisters to watch him. It hooks like he doesn't have a game plan because he changes direction every ten seconds.

Cooper is a backyard dog. He starts playing on the deck with a bone, then he gets an idea. He carries the bone in his mouth, dashes down the steps and runs down the sidewalk to the garage with his fluffy white Shih Tzu tail perched on his rump. Before getting to the garage he stops, drops the bone, lifts his head, turns around and runs full speed around the yard. These are his "zoomies." When he's made several rounds he dashes up the steps and lays down at my feet with his tongue hanging out and panting. It doesn't take long for him to recover and he goes for more "zoomies." This time he's running as fast as he can with his fluffy white tail streaming behind him like a galloping horse.

In the evening before bedtime Cooper does "zoomies" in the house and runs from the front door to the back door in the kitchen.

Along the way he jumps on the sofa using it like a trampoline to propel himself into the air. He lands on his feet running as fast as he can. When he's tired of that he sits on the living room floor with a squeaky toy. Sometimes the toy rolls under the sofa so I take out the yard stick and swipe it under the sofa to get the toy.

Last night the squeaky ball came out but Cooper wasn't happy. He kept on barking. He wouldn't stop. I knew then that he was up to something. But what? I lifted the foot rest. Cooper kept barking and Judy spotted a bone that was hung up in the recliner mechanism. With great effort she got down on hands and knees to dislodge the bone. Cooper stopped barking, grabbed the bone and sat on the floor until bedtime, gnawing on that dusty old treasure.

We enjoyed the quiet time. A ten month old puppy can keep two old girls on the go. "Sometimes he's a nuisance," concluded Judy. "But when he's calm he's a snuggle bunny. He's a keeper."

THE SAVVY SENIOR

Dear Savvy Senior,
Who should be screened for lung cancer and how it's covered by Medicare? I used to smoke but quit many years ago and am wondering if I need to be tested.

Just Turned 65
Dear Just Turned,

Even if you haven't touched a cigarette in decades, you could still be due for an annual lung cancer screening, based on new recommendations from the American Cancer Society (ACS). The new guidelines state that adults ages 50 to 80 who currently smoke or used to smoke the equivalent of one pack a day for 20 years should get an annual low-dose computed tomography scan (also called a CT scan), no matter how long ago you quit.

ACS guidelines previously said that those who quit 15 or more years ago were in the clear. But new studies have shown that expanding screening eligibility saves lives, even among people who quit smoking years earlier.

Early Detection Saves Lives
Lung cancer is the deadliest cancer in the United States. According to the American Cancer Society, an estimated 234,580 new cases are expected to be diagnosed in 2024, and about 125,070 Americans will die from the disease.

While lung cancer can occur in anyone at any age, cigarette smoking is the top risk factor and is linked to about 80 to 90 percent of lung cancer deaths, and most people diagnosed with the disease are age 65 or older.

What makes lung cancer especially tricky is that it's often symptomless until it's at an advanced stage, when it's harder to treat. Early detection can lead to a 20 to 25 percent improvement in survival rates, resulting in fewer deaths from lung cancer.

But a 2022 report from the American Lung Association found that only 5.8 percent of people eligible for lung cancer screening in the U.S. get screened, and the screening rate is as low as 1 percent in some states.

Screening & Coverage
If you fall into the population eligible for a lung cancer screening, start by speaking with your doctor, even if it's been a long time since you smoked.

Medicare Part B will cover lung cancer screenings with a low-dose CT scan once a year for people ages 50 to 77 who are current smokers or quit in the last 15 years and have a 20-pack-year history. Patients must have an order from their doctor or health care provider and should not have symptoms of lung cancer.

A low-dose CT scan is a non-invasive test where you lie down and hold your breath while being moved through a doughnutshaped X-ray machine. The scan takes several X-ray images of the lungs and can help to identify possible abnormalities in the lung tissue.

There are some potential risks with this screening, including the possibility of false positives, which can lead to more scans or invasive procedures. According to the American Lung Association about 12 to 14 percent of lung cancer screening scans will have a false positive, which is about the same rate as with mammograms. Capital Credit Claims

Notice of Redemption by Dakota Valley Electric Cooperative, Inc.

Listed below are the names of former Dakota Valley Electric Cooperative members who had capital credit checks mailed to them in 2017. These checks have not been cashed. Some have been returned by the postal service because it did not have a current address. If your name is on this list, or if you know the whereabouts of members on this list, please contact our office at 800-342-6671.

Some of the capital credits are not large. However, Dakota Valley would like to get the money to the people who have earned it. Dakota Valley will redeem capital credits for the members on this list who notify the co-op before November 1, 2024. Notice is hereby given that after November 1, 2024 any unclaimed capital credits outstanding will be forfeited pursuant to Section 10-15-54.1 and 10-15-23 of the North Dakota Century Code.
